JAPANESE NEW ROAD TO FENG WANG CHENG

Kuropatkin Has Back Toward His Base at Liao-Yang—Japanese Surgical Advance Toward Japanese.

Tokio, May 3. [Sun.] The Japanese have occupied Feng wang cheng, which was evacuated yesterday (Feb. 2). It was also announced that the Japanese have occupied Kuan tien hsien.

General Kuropatkin has withdrawn all the troops from the Yalu river but retained those on the Korean frontier and confronting Liao Yang. They have been driven back by the Japanese who have crossed the Yalu river.

St. Petersburg, May 3—2:15 a. m.—Where the war office makes no announcement this morning it failed to give out any official dispatches regarding the situation on the Liao-tung peninsula or at Feng-wang-cheng. Nevertheless there is no doubt that the Japanese troops were in touch with the Russian forces at Feng-wang-cheng and the report that the latter had evacuated that place is generally credited. Surprise is caused by the withdrawal of General Kuropatkin toward his base at Liao-yang, as it is stated that immediately after he assumed of General Passwitch's losses he sent reinforcements to him to enable him to retain his position.

Has Full Authority.

The officials here decline to confess, however, that they are not fully satisfied of Kuropatkin's plan. He is in sole charge of the operations in Manchuria. The empire decided when General Kuropatkin started out that he should have complete independence, so there could be no grounds for complaints that he was hampered by instructions or orders from officers in St. Petersburg who could not possibly know all the conditions which the troops in the field would meet. Kuropatkin, therefore, has made his own plan. What that is known here shows that he intends to preserve his entire command not have been prevented. [illegible] position.

The occupation of Feng-wang-cheng [illegible] that he could not offer battle at Feng-wang-cheng with an even chance of success he has decided to fall back to his base of supplies. [illegible] Liao-yang. [illegible] back of the pass there [illegible] pass, near which is a mountain road connecting with Liao-yang.

The Big Gun Game.

The Japanese have a new [illegible] now employed in the operations in the region of Port Arthur. They have moved the 11-inch guns around the Takushan [illegible] and placed upon the Liao-tung [illegible] at the war points, and it is believed they will continue their service their Superintendent Sotaburo the [illegible] 1894 in 1894.

It is not at all unlikely the another Japanese army will be landed upon the peninsula which will move northward along the railroad line. During the Sino-Japanese war the Japanese captured Port Arthur two weeks after their disembarkation upon the peninsula. The Russians say that the Japanese will not find it so easy a task to reduce Port Arthur as they did before. The Japanese army marching northward along the railroad must keep supplied constantly [illegible] and keeping communication [illegible] Yalu river.

SERIOUS REVOLT IN RUSSIA

Critical Situation Excites Feverish Interest and Causes Great Depression in Paris.

Paris, May 3.—The critical situation of Russian naval and sea forces excites feverish interest. So [illegible] causes almost as much depression here as at St. Petersburg. EDUCATIONAL TOPICS

GARFIELD SCHOOL.

The members of the Seventh A and Fourth B grades are looking forward with great expectations to the debate which is to be held at the Steele building on Friday, May 12.

The first character sketch of characters in "The Lady of the Lake," written by the pupils of the Eighth grade, has been completed. It was of Allen and has proved to be very interesting.

Miss Fields, supervisor of drawing, and Miss Deardorff, supervisor of domestic science in the schools of Pueblo, were visitors Monday.

About 20 from Sixth B have signified their intention to attend the World's fair this year, so every morning some time is being given to what one may expect to see and experience.

In the 6B a great deal of interest is being shown now in Arctic explorations, the magnetic pole, the Aurora Borealis and planets.

Miss Pollock, supervisor of reading in the schools of Pueblo, spent the entire day Friday inspecting the work in reading in the grades of this building.

Thursday some poster effects in Delft were made, the design being copied from Ruisdael's "Landscape With Windmill," one of the pictures of the room after a study of the artist and his work.

Fifth A has selected working on cases and designs suitable for stained glass windows. Both the designing and the coloring have been very pleasant.

An interesting study of Thorwaldsen led by Mrs. Ashton, was the feature of the teachers meeting Wednesday afternoon.

The pupils of the 6A are very much interested in the study of Schreyer. Walter Hussing, one of the pupils, has made a case for a barometer which shows a great deal of skill. The children are making a study of barometers and intend setting up one that will watch the effect upon it of the pressure of the atmosphere.

3. Give reasons why light, loose clothing, plenty of sleep and freedom to run barefoot will help so much next term?
4. Should children be allowed to take extra clothing to school?

RUNAWAY TEAM CAUSES EXCITEMENT

A runaway of a team drawing a milk wagon caused a little excitement in the business section of the city about 10 this morning. The team belonged to the Durham creamery, and the section was from the Rustic Home dairy. The runaway started in the 100 block on North Cascade and Henry Cornell, the frightened milkman, stopped it just off the corner of Pikes Peak and Nevada avenue. In its gyrations the wagon lost a wheel and for a block or so made a jolly mark as it was dragged along. The driver was in the wagon.

Several of Connecticut's old families are methodically in a unique and interesting way at the World's fair. The coats of arms and the best and notable facts in history of the families of the state are shown by means of charts or sketches. The charts form a frieze in the balcony of the library and sitting room in the Connecticut building.

FISCHER PIANOS

It is an indisputable fact that the high esteem placed on any work of Art must be founded upon merit. When the musical artist and the home player are united in their high appreciation of the FISCHER PIANO, we take their verdict unqualifiedly. Both have for years maintained the supremacy of the Fischer Piano because of its tone, quality, its artistic individuality and its durability.

STILL there is comparatively little excitement in the social world.

Of course there are the small and informal bridge, high five and 5 o'clock parties of a couple of tables or so, but the givers prefer not to have the account of them published.

The results of amusement are being pretty well buttressed just now in spite of anything more exciting. The Colorado college athletic benefit, which took the form of a Minstrel show, attracted a large crowd to the Temple theater last Friday night.

Tuesday evening the favorite, Anna Held and her large company will appear in F. Ziegfeld, Jr.'s production of Jean Richepin's "Napoleonic Napoleon." The engagement promises to be an unusually brilliant one and already several parties are being made on account of the visit of members of the city.

Then, for next week there is the coming of Maude Adams on Monday night, which will be eagerly anticipated as she is one of the Western young women who have achieved fame during a life career.

Rehearsals for the Shakespearean play, "The Winter's Tale," which is to be given by the Mirror society, the literary social and literary organization of the young ladies students of Colorado college are going breathlessly, as the cast of characters is as follows:

I WAS in the days when the tide of Mahdism, which had swept in [illegible] had at last come to its full [illegible] and even began, as some [illegible] to show signs of a turn. At its outset it had been terrible. Then [illegible] found [illegible] west to Central Africa and to [illegible] and retired a little on the [illegible] of Egypt.

For ten years there ensued a lull, during which the fiercer fanaticism worked out and there distrust that [illegible] Ra of Egypt had the chief lists which draped them lay a last [illegible] and border. For a time to cigarette. "You see this place? And just at that very time, Bimbashi Hilary Joyce, seconded from the Royal Mellow Fusiliers and temporarily attached to the Ninth Soudanese, made his first appearance in Cairo.

Napoleon had said, and Hilary Joyce had noted, that great reputations are easy to be made in the east. Here he was in the east with four-inch cases of baggage, a Wilkinson sword, a Bond's long-throwing pistol and a copy of Green's Introduction to the Study of Arabic." With such a start and the mood of youth running hot in his veins, everything seemed easy. He was a little frightened of the general; he had heard stories of his sternness to young officers, but with tact and sagacity he could [illegible] for the best. So, leaving his [illegible] at Shepheard's Hotel, Lieutenant Joyce [illegible] it was not the general, but the [illegible] interesting [illegible] from the blackness of a hill which is called the Jebel Kerkur, Hilary Joyce looked down upon a distant gleam of palms, and thought [illegible] midst of the moulding black and yellows was the fairest color effect that he had ever seen. As hour later he was ridden into the little camp, the guard [illegible] had turned out to salute him, his native [illegible] to [illegible] and [illegible] in excellent English, and he had fairly entered into his role.

It was not an exhilarating place for a lengthy residence. There was one large bowl-shaped grassy depression sloping down to the three pits of brown and brackish water. There was the grove of palm trees also, beautiful to look upon, but exasperating in view of the fact that nature had provided her least shady trees on the very spot where shade is needed most. A single widespread acacia did something to restore the balance. Here Hilary Joyce slumbered in the heat, and at the cool he inspected his square shouldered, spindle-shanked Soudanese, with their cheery black faces and their funny little pork-pie forage caps. Joyce was a martinet at drill, and the blacks loved being drilled, so the Bimbashi was soon popular among them. But one day was exactly like another. The weather, the view, the employments, everything was [illegible] At the end of three weeks he [illegible] for inter- spite of their hostile [illegible] For [illegible] he saw [illegible] cavalry, [illegible] of the [illegible] and he advanced [illegible] day.

One evening as the sun was sinking, with the air of one who makes the [illegible] Hilary Joyce rode slowly down the [illegible] old caravan road. It had a festive [illegible] and said nothing when the hands [illegible] for him, this narrow track, [illegible] ing among the boulders and curving [illegible] up the [illegible] for he remembered, [illegible] how in the map it had gone on and on, stretching away into the [illegible] heart of Africa. The [illegible] had immemorial [illegible] centuries had [illegible] it smooth, so that now unused and deserted, it still [illegible] ran [illegible] feet broad, and perhaps two [illegible] lows as the fairest color effect that he had ever seen. As hour later he was ridden into the little camp, the guard [illegible] had turned out to salute him, his native [illegible] to [illegible] and [illegible] up to the frontier, you know—"

"My regiment is at Wady Halfa, I suppose, sir, that I should report myself there at once?"

"No; I am to give you your orders." He led the way to a nipa upon the [illegible] wall and [illegible] with the end of his [illegible] and [illegible] cigarette. "You see this place? THE REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

The platform adopted by the Republican State convention Friday was a strong, dignified and comprehensive statement of the party's position upon matters of public interest.

Beginning with an indorsement of the national policies of the party upon tariff and finance the platform commends President Roosevelt for his fearlessness, honesty and splendid abilities. His administration is indorsed in every respect and the delegates are directed to vote for him in the national convention of the party.

The Republican administration in this state is indorsed and the action of Governor Peabody in maintaining law and order is approved. The party pledges its good offices to bring about a proper understanding between employer and employe and to secure industrial peace in Colorado. It emphasizes the fact that wage earner and employer should act with exact justice toward each other, recognizing the mutual rights and privileges of the other.

The Republicans of Denver are congratulated upon having such men as John W. Springer as their leaders, and that strong indorsement which he deserves. The platform does not mince words in praising of the election crimes in Denver, which are a disgrace to the state, and those pretended Republicans who are still allying themselves with this corrupt and venal Democratic machine are declared to be no longer members of the party.

In thus reading out the few place-hunters and parasites who have hitherto been obnoxious to the organization and to the Lecht Republicans of the state, the convention performed a necessary and creditable act. Never again will these traitors be admitted to the party councils until they have at least served a long and sufficient term at the members' bench.

The platform sounds a straightforward note upon the subject of a free and untrammeled ballot, and declares that no man shall be deprived of his right to vote through any discrimination as to race or color.

The platform is broad enough to secure and to merit the approval of every Republican in this state, and all members of the party should be glad to stand upon it.

SIXTY YEARS OF SERVICE.

THE resignation of Bishop Stephen M. Merrill of the Methodist Episcopal church calls attention to the life-long services which have been rendered by him.

For 58 years Bishop Merrill has been a member of the Methodist ministry. This in itself is a life time and indicates that this great preacher must have entered the ministry at a very early age.

He has had a long and interesting career. His splendid services to the church were, after a number of years, duly crowned with a bishopric. In this high office he has held a force not place among that body of eminent men.

When he retires, which will be in a few weeks, he will have the satisfaction of knowing that his active career in the Methodist church is crowned with the richest of honors.

GREAT WORK BY THE BALL TEAM.

THE record made by the Colorado Springs Western league baseball team is little less than remarkable. Out of 16 games played this season the team has won 15 and lost but one, giving it a percentage of .969.

This is a record which is held very rarely in the history of baseball for scarcely once in 10 years is a league team at the end of 10 games, able to hold a percentage of .900. Some of the other league teams have accomplished this feat to date this season. In the National league the leader is the New York team with a percentage of .900; in the American league, the leader is the Boston team with a percentage of .833; in the American association the leader is the St. Paul team with a percentage of .750.

It will be noted, therefore, that the record now held by the Giants is very remarkable and a cause for congratulation. The Colorado Springs men have played a variety of teams in the league also, having only Pueblo and Denver still to meet.

The good work which the team has done has been the result of hard and careful practice, to hard hitting at the bat and to the efforts of the owner, Thomas F. Keating, who is securing for Colorado Springs a first-class, all-around team of ball players from the best sources that he can find.

The success of the team will undoubtedly serve to attract more and more to Colorado Springs as one of the pleasure-seeking ball towns.

The report from New York that Mr. Harriman is going to raise a $5,000,000 campaign fund to be used in behalf of Judge Parker. Of course, the amount is probably exaggerated, but there is no question but Wall Street would be glad to pay splendidly to put the New York jurist in the White house.

A queer trust proposition has arisen down in Tennessee. An independent telephone concern has sued to the courts to prevent the Bell telephone people from buying it. The usual objection to a monopoly is that it puts its rates too high and not too low.

The Japanese will not permit the war correspondents to go to the front, but nevertheless they are sending out pretty good news themselves. And up to date no one has been obliged to "read and report."

Thousands of cubic feet of water are being wasted to flow down the Arkansas river from Colorado for the next three days, and, strange to say, the farmers of the Sunflower state are not a bit grateful.

On the race Louisville [illegible] the property of Thomas Jefferson [illegible] for the first time since 1857. But Jefferson is a pretty big man in St. Louis this year.

Boxing in New England is tame and the Yankees are reported to be training on nothing besides corn and ice.

A water engineer in Pueblo declares that there is now an abundance of water in the Arkansas river. Well, rather!

The college baseball nines seem to have struck a big hit by playing some absolutely new games.

JEANNE D'ARC.

(By ALFRED AUSTIN, poet laureate of England.)

Goddess of battles, with the maiden sword
And shining banner, when to France exiled
Not all her valiant manhood helmed and spoiled
To drive from off her soil the alien horde,
That over pasture, hamlet, vineyard poured,
You with your unarmed innocency smiled
The walls of war, and, where man's might had failed,
Crowning, enthroned the Anointed of the Lord.
And should France yet again be called to stare
The stranger from her gates, and hurl back thence
Feet that would violate her frontiers fair,
Not mercilessly exclaimants of sense,
But the pure heart and patriotic prayer,
Once more could prove her rescue and defence.

Good Short Stories

TIM CAMPBELL IN SOCIETY.

Among the stories being told as about the late Congressman Tim Campbell is one dealing with the days when Whitney was secretary of the navy. A number of congressmen were invited to luncheon at the home of the secretary, and Tim was of the party. The Whitneys have, or had then, a very pretty and [illegible] daughter, who was [illegible] for the occasion, and to make it Mr. Campbell was greatly impressed at the sight of the exquisitely appointed table. Turning to the hostess he said enthusiastically:

"That's lovely, Mrs. Whitney. There's no fuss on that."

A surprised look came over Mrs. Whitney's face, for she was not well versed in slang.

"Well, Mr. Campbell," she replied, pleasantly, "there ought not to be any fuss here. The servants are very careful to keep them out, you know."

Tim did not hear the last of that for many a day.

HOW FROST CUT HIS COUPONS.

A certain Philadelphia art club has a custom of creating a great deal of fun at the expense of new members, to test their mettle and good fellowship, says Success. This, as may be imagined, is excellent fun for the average player at large, but is often very trying to the poor target of it all. Shortly before the election of A. E. Frost, the illustrator of forty-niners, it was reported that he possessed considerable wealth. At the first club dinner after Mr. Frost's name had been added to the roll the members were primed to derive amusement from his debut.

"Hello, Frost!" called one when the new member appeared in the dining room. "I hear you are doing nothing but cutting coupons now."

"Yes," answered the artist, quickly, "and I'm using the same scissors I used to trim my cuffs with."

CHORUS GIRL WHERE WAVELETS WHIRL.

"The Prince of Pilsen" girls are out upon the bounding main, their cabins filled with flowers and their meals with champagne. They will not cross to Liverpool so fast as some may do, for the Cunard ship Etruria has but a single screw.

Down to the pier at midnight they began to gaily roll in rain and rapid autos, and the Johnnies paid the toll. And waving feet protruded from every open cab; the hubby that encased them was everything but drab.

When the last cork struck the ceiling the girl who filled her hat remarked: "I like a Pepper who can make 'em pop like that."

Then the screeching of the whistle the final one was drowned by a ballade perfervid, as carnating round and round the jester of the bevy shouted: "Farewell, old New York, when we get to Queenstown harbor we will say another Cork."—New York Sun.

NO ROOM FOR DOUBT.

"In fact I shouldn't have guessed that he had ever read a line of Shakespeare."

"That's strange. Haven't you noticed that every little while he says 'in youth'?"

HE COULDN'T UNDERSTAND IT.

The agent of the individual eye-opening plants was putting forth the best efforts to induce the man to purchase an equipment.

"If you don't see one system," urged the agent, "you will be swindling in your own light."

"I don't see how that can be," muttered the man, twisting an unlaid gas bill between his fingers.—Judge.

Stone was inventing his motto.

"Fine," they answered; "but can't you get acquainted in any better circles?"

Sadly he began to search for a new trade-mark.

Some New Books

By H. A. Mark Hazard Keays McClure, Phillips & Co. Price $1.50.

This is one of the best and most original "first novels of the year." The author has chosen for his subject that ever-green and ever-living topic, the divorce question. It is a powerful attack on evil although the author has not offered any solution to the vexing question, nor outlined any plan by which the evil may be checked or stamped out. He has, however, written a wonderfully good book of strikingly interesting character to cover. He has a clear and forceful style that is at once appealing and convincing.

All the characters are exceptionally well drawn, and this is true of the author gets right to the heart of things and the girls will be remembered when the great mass of pretty dull fiction is forgotten. It is not a political story in the usually accepted sense of the word but is a clear and truthful picture of conditions as they are today.

Mr. Devarre, a man of [illegible] has a family, consisting of a wife and one child, a boy named Wallace. Mackenzie has become infatuated with another man's wife and at the time the story opens has decided to leave his wife, Katherine. She, being loyal and true to her husband, [illegible] Mackenzie and her husband and has tried to bridge it over without success. Mackenzie leaves his wife and he and the other woman are married.

Katherine's whole interests are now centered in the boy, but in spite of that fact she gradually declines. A relative of hers, a bright vivacious girl of 18 comes to cost Katherine, to cheer her up she says. But with the coming of Alda, Katherine has more than to brood over Mackenzie's desertion. She feels sure however, that sometime, and in some way he will come back to her. Alda's presence does much toward preventing Katherine's condition, but her previous Dr. Rogers sees that it is a case of heart break. He imagines that he loves Katherine and proposes to her.

Meanwhile Mackenzie is beginning to realize that he has made an awful mistake. The certainty of it grows on him day by day as he compares the two women. About this time he receives word that Whitney in whom all of his plans for the future had centered, is dead in spite of his second marriage, is very ill.

How Mackenzie gets the clearer vision and [illegible] for [illegible] a finer, better and nobler man, and how the solution for this difficult situation comes, makes the story of vital interest, and proves be one of the few that are really worth while.

"THE LEOPARD."

By Gilbert Burgess and Will Irwin. McClure, Phillips & Co. N. Y. Price $1.50.

This is a rollicking story as—rather a set of stories of Three soldiers of fortune who met in a chance restaurant in the lower quarter of San Francisco. In consideration for a [illegible] they consent how he happens to be in the selling house at that time both these rascals coupled with the intervening adventures they have had all go to make up a book that is startling in its novelty and realistic to an unusual degree.

How the wife, [illegible] of fortune had left them stranded, and how they pursue their fortunes amidst interesting and spicy reading. It is a tale of rogues, fun and a little pathos. But it is a fine story and is a genuine treat from the well-worn plots and characters in modern fiction that will please a pleasant surprise to the [illegible] reader who has had his fling [illegible] knights and [illegible] of the day, as we know that a genuine short bit of humor with just a touch of pathos and a dash of the adventurous [illegible] ...ly place and truly appreciated.

Our Favorite.

A little storm-tossed vessel cast its anchor off the barren shores of Cape Cod on the twenty-first day of November, 1620, at the point that is now Provincetown Harbor.

On board were seventy-three men and women, with brave hearts and dauntless souls, and thirty children.

Their intention was to go farther south and their grant of land was made at [illegible] ...ver. The voyage had been stormy and boisterous and the captain of the ship had threatened at the expedition and was desirous to be rid of his crew, so he dropped here and refused to go further.

As a flock of birds determined Columbus' destination, so an irritable captain gave to New England the honor of being the home of our forefathers.

Burke's Famous Sherry.

One evening at dinner, when the cloth was drawn, Mr. Ruskin, senior, in special honor of the occasion, had set before him a decanter of sherry from the cask which had been on board the Victory for Nelson's use in the last months of his life. Mr. Ruskin was always proud of his sherry, but this wine, of supreme excellence in itself, not only pleased his fine palate, but touched his romantic fancy. It had been "tossed on a fateful voyage, it had reached in the thickest of the game of Trafalgar, a glass of it might have touched Nelson's dying lips. The old wine-merchant's carelessness in the [illegible] which it evoked was a [illegible] ...ic sensibilities.

Suggestion for May.

The May issue of Suggestion, a magazine of the new psychology (Chicago), has a department devoted to the natural methods of curing consumption, which will interest a large class. This department contains a packet of information showing how consumption may be cured by rational treatment—out door living, exercise, breathing, right mental attitude, etc.—and the editor takes the stand that grave cannot cure this disease, and that all so-called "consumption cures" sold in bottles are delusions. Several instances are given in which advanced cases of consumption were cured by means so simple that they are within the reach of everyone.

The contents for May are: "Breathing Exercises and Auto-Suggestion," Herbert A. Parkyn, M. D.; "True Charity," Ella Wheeler Wilcox; "Opportunity Speaks," Wilfred Lampson; "Food Iron," Dr. J. H. Kellogg; "Practical Psychology," Prof. Edgar L. Larkin; "Rythmical Breathing," Lucius Gore; "Evolution of a Star," H. Henderson; "Discussion Regarding Alleged Supernatural Methods of Healing," "Character in Handwriting," Jean Higinbotham Tucker; "Reality," Dr. Geo. W. Carey; "Doctors as Faith Healers," Dr. S. O. Carr; "Nature Cure for Consumption," editorials, departments, etc.

The Advantage of Using Ill.

One of the greatest difficulties in life is [illegible] when the hands are full of work, and of business requiring attention. In many cases the strain and anxiety, which causes [illegible] in the illness, is more [illegible] ...ness and makes more trouble than the illness itself.

Suppose, for instance, that a man is taken down with the measles, when he feels that he ought to be at his office, and that his absence may result in serious loss to himself and others. If he begins by letting go in his body and in his mind, and realizing that the illness is beyond his own power, it will soon come to him that he might as well turn his illness to account by getting a good rest out of it. In this frame of mind his chances of early recovery will be increased, and he may even get up from his illness with as much vigor and with his mind as much refreshed as to make up, in part, for his temporary absence from business. But, on the other hand, if he rushes, worries, complains and gets irritable, he irritates his nervous system and, by so doing is likely to bring on any one of the disagreeable troubles known to [illegible] and thus he may keep himself bound for weeks, perhaps months, instead of days.—Annie Payson Call, in Leslie's Monthly for May.

Popular Books.

The librarians of New York state recently took a vote as to the best 50 books for a village library, among the 1,000 books published in America last year. Ten votes were thrown in for good measure, and of the 50 books selected, 14 or 28 per cent. were published by The Macmillan company.

The books selected are: "The Call of the Wild," by Mr. Jack London; Mr. Morley's "Life of Gladstone"; "A Woman's Hardy Virtues," by Mrs. Helena Rutherford Ely; "The Heart of Rome," by Mr. F. Marion Crawford; "The Social Career," by Mr. John Graham Brooks; "Two Centuries of Costume in America," by Mrs. Alice Morse Earle; "A Descriptive Guide to the Best Fiction," by Mr. Ernest A. Baker; "The Middle of the Pasture," by Mr. James Lane Allen; Mr. Sidney Lee's "Dictionary of National Biography"; "Queen Victoria: A Biography," by Mr. Sidney Lee; "Old Quebec: The Fortress of New France," by Sir Gilbert Parker and Mr. Claude G. Bryan; "People of the Whirlpool," by the Author of "The Garden of a Commuter's Wife"; "Reading as Contemporary Biography," by Mr. Jas. Bryce, and "The Care of a House," by Mr. T. M. Clark.

LITERARY NOTES

A Strange Birthplace.

Born at the Cape of Good Hope to a Virginia mother, Archibald H. Grimke, author of Garrison a Biography (Houghton, Mifflin & Co.), entered professional life by way of the roving life which he has indeed followed. His father placed him in an office in Gibraltar, but he ran away with only a few pounds in his pocket—a sum supplemented later, however, by kind female relatives. For many months the lad roamed about central Europe through Germany, Switzerland and north Italy, often on foot and living after the thrifty peasants. This gave him his first taste of independence, which he deeply enjoyed, and started him on a career which gave him the title of "the greatest traveler living."

Some Misadventures.

Certain misadventures will attach to being a woman. Perhaps posterity of Mrs. Edith Elmer Wood's novel story "The Spirit of the Service," about "craft-shaft," instead of "screw-shaft," and promptly attributed the typographical error to her pen!

Another Novel by Dixon.

A new novel is announced by Thomas Dixon, Jr., author of "The Clan Warrior," and "The Leopard's Spots." It is said to be, in a way, a continuation of the first book and is entitled "The Clansman." Mr. Dixon's purpose here is to show that the original formers of the Ku Klux Klan were modern knights errant, riding by night and at hand to right wrongs. The book will bear the imprint of Doubleday, Page & Co. Authors of Mr. Dixon, the "Leopard's Spots" is reported to be well in the second hundred thousand, while "The One Woman" is passing the 100,000 mark.

Some Low Priced Books.

A surprising number of good books is being published this spring at the very low price of 25 cents. "The Virginian," "Columbus," "The Crisis," "The Choir Invisible," and other favorite novels will appear in paper covers at that price. This week The Macmillan Company issues John Graham Brooks' well-known book, "The Social Unrest," in a paper-bound edition, and to-day they issue Palgrave's "Golden Treasury of Songs and Lyrics," in a little volume to [illegible] in red cloth and published at the same price. This is the best collection of English poetry ever made.

The Virginian.

One of the hardest things to correct in an erroneous statement about a forthcoming book or a new edition of an old one, once it finds its way into print. Two new editions of Mr. Wister's novel, "The Virginian," were announced for June this spring, one in cloth, with illustrations from stage pictures, the other in paper, without illustrations. The latter will be the first book in the Macmillan series of twenty-five-cent paper novels. But somebody confuses the two editions, in a literary note, and The Macmillan Company are besieged with requests for the more-expensive edition of "The Virginian" with the stage pictures.

Some Duodecimo Revolutionists.

It is the custom to refer to Doubleday, Page & Co. as upon the whole conservative as upon bookish affairs, in point of fact they are often very successful and very fatal shafter. The Doubleday, Page & Co. [illegible] are not good marksmen, and the impression that goes down on the public consciousness Chancellor and New York is poor stuff. But these fellows, nevertheless, are terrible fighters, easily roused to savage fury, and, oblivious of the heat of a battle, so danger, as they are insensible to pain. Matthew Quay's famous as a revolutionist in Cuba, was a Doubleday, Page & Co. author.

A prominent club woman, Mrs. Danforth, of St. Joseph, Mich., tells how she was cured of ailing of the womb and its accompanying pains and misery by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Life looks dark indeed when a woman feels that her strength is failing and she has no hopes of ever being restored. Such was my feeling a few months ago when I was advised that my poor health was caused by profluous or falling of the womb. The words sounded like a knell to me, I felt that my sun had set; but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound came to me as an elixir of life; it restored the lost forces and built me up until my good health returned to me. For four months I took the medicine daily and each dose added health and strength. I am so thankful for the help I obtained through its use."—Mrs. Florence Danforth, 120 Miles Ave., St. Joseph, Mich.

A medicine that has restored so many women to health should receive your confidence. All of the facts must be proved. This is the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which cannot be equalled by any other medicine the world has ever known. Here is another case:—

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—For years I was troubled with falling of the womb, irregular and painful menstruation, leucorrhœa, bearing-down pains, backache, headache, dizzy and fainting spells, and stomach trouble.

"I doctored for about five years but did not seem to improve. I began the use of your medicine, and have taken seven bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, three of Blood Purifier, and also used the Sanative Wash and Liver Pills, and now enjoy good health, and have gained in flesh.

"I thank you very much for what you have done for me, and heartily recommend your medicine to all suffering women."—Miss Emma Snyder, 218 East Center St., Marion, Ohio.

Women could save time and much sickness if they would write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice at the first sign of trouble. It is free, and her great knowledge is at your service.

Mrs. Pinkham never violates the sacred confidence which women have reposed in her, although the publication of testimonials like the above have been made by her advice and consent, genuine letters from grateful women are constantly published in the Ladies' Home Journal and often by request of the writer.

$5000 FORFEIT will be deposited in a National Bank, which will be paid to any person who will prove that the above testimonial is not genuine, or was published without the writer's consent.

HEAVY REDUCTION FROM PRODUCING MINES

She is Being Taken From Nearly Every Level of the Property—Is Well Equipped and Production is Larger Than Ever.

Cripple Creek Gazette.

Cripple Creek, May 7.—The Findley mine on Bull hill is making a daily output of 50 tons of ore, or at the rate of 1,500 tons per month, the ore returning values of between one and three ounces to the ton, which means that this well known Bull hill property is now making a gross production of over $30,000 per month.

Superintendent Murphy is now employing between 90 and 100 men in two shifts. There are 15 air drill men on each shift and the ore is being mined from nearly every level in the property.

The Findley property is one of the best equipped in the district as a new plant of machinery, new hoisting engines, new boilers and a new shaft house are recently installed which enable this mine to be a production of the above amount with ease and much larger than even before in the history of the property.

GIANT MILLS NEARING COMPLETION

GILLETT COMPANY WILL SOON BE READY FOR ORE WHICH WILL COME LARGELY FROM THE LINCOLN MINE

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, May 7.—The new cyanide mill which is being built by the Gillett Cyanide company, located on Lincoln mountain, is nearly completed and while a very short time the machinery will be working and treating the low grade ores of that section. The mill is equipped with a number of electric motors and is capable of treating over 100 tons of ore per day.

The mill, when completed, will be one of the neatest and fully equipped mills in the country. The ore to be treated at the new plant will come principally from the Lincoln mine, where preparations are now being made to bring down an enormous pile of rock. The management of the mine today stated that all will be in readiness to supply the mill with all the ore necessary as soon as it is in shape to treat it.

TRILBY SHIPMENT

Lessee Co. Ships Carload of Ore. Will Return Values Between One and Two Ounces to the Ton.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, May 7.—The Bayard M. & L. company, operating under lease the Trilby claim, on Bull hill, yesterday shipped a carload of ore that will return values between one and two ounces to the ton.

The ore was mined in a stope about 20 feet south of the shaft at a depth of 500 feet from the surface. While the ore shoot varies in width, it will average more than two feet in extent.

The company, at the present time is not working any attempt to make a large production, confining most of their work to development. At the present time cross-cutting is in progress at a depth of 575 feet, where very good prospect has been opened up.

C. C. ENTERPRISE

Will Resume Operations on Its Property Located in the Heart of Cripple Creek—Large Force.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, May 7.—The Cripple Creek Gold Mining company will resume active operations on their property, located in the heart of this city, with a large force of men, after an idleness of several months. Operations are now to be pushed with renewed vigor.

President and Manager Van Hanlen today purchased the interest formerly held by his associates, C. E. Mills and Others and expects to at once develop the property under his personal management.

A shaft has been sunk to a depth of over 200 feet, where drifts and crosscuts too numerous to mention have been run from different points. The shaft will be extended to the 500-foot point at least, where a systematic development will take place.

The Enterprise company has been granted a franchise from the city of Cripple Creek to work under the streets and alleys of the city, obtaining tunnels near the Short Line depot, a large shaft house and the most handsome gallows-frame in the district has been erected with a complete plant of machinery.

PRODUCTION FROM THE STRATTON'S INDEPENDENCE

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, May 7.—Stratton's Independence hoisted is now sending out about 175 tons of ore daily, which is averaging in values between one and two ounces to the ton, with an occasional high grade shipment. The big pumps at the 1,400-foot level have been hoisted to the surface and the lower levels of the mine abandoned. However, there are two large sized pumps at the 800-foot station, which is sufficient to keep the property perfectly dry to that point. About 40 men are now employed in the mine.

Manager Balderston says that the rush of applications for leases continues. However, nothing can be done with them save to file them away, as up to the present time no order has been received from the Longen office as to what portion of the ground is to be let out.

EXTENSIVE DEVELOPMENT ON DEXTER PROPERTY

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, May 7.—The Colorado C. M. and M. company, operating the Dexter property on Bald hill, is working a large force of men in different portions of this well known territory, opening up new ground.

They are now sinking and running levels and cross-cuts at different points. The shaft, which is now down to a depth of 250 feet, will be extended to the 700-foot point. This company is also developing the old Sage mill at Florence, here after the necessary repairs have been made, they expect to treat the entire output from the Dexter mine, figuring that they will be able to ship at least 50 tons daily.

THE COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE

Trading was light and prices showed little change on yesterday's market. Portland made a decided advance, however, selling up to $2.35. The prevailing figure during the past two weeks has been $1.85 and $2.00. Yesterday's sales were at $2.22 1-2, $2.24 and $2.25. El Paso sold at $3 1-2 and Elkton sold a trader at 6 cents per share. Isabella sold at 21 and Jack Pot changed hands at 4 1-2.

Missouri sold up to 2 yesterday but declined to 2 3-4 at the close. A total of 25,000 shares were sold. Mary Nevin and Nellie V. each gained fractionally. Goldstone and Lucrative were the only traders in the miscellaneous department.

NEGLECT IN THE STOCK MARKET

SOMEWHAT ALTERNATIVE VIEW OF THE SITUATION WHICH PREVAILED BEFORE THE SUPREME COURT DECISION.

New York, May 7.—Today's developments revealed a condition of neglect in the stock market fully equal to that which prevailed before the Northern Securities decision which was handed down and that has been unequaled for many years previously. Many of the most prominent stocks in the list were not quoted at all until near the close and then were only dealt in in single lots of 100 shares. Prices sank from previous quotations and no regard was paid to any news. The bank statement showed a loss of only nominal amount as the large changes shown in the various items were pretty accurately forecasted. The statement shows no threat of a contraction of money supply, but shows a rather pronounced process of depletion of the exchange condition of money both by cash (collector, through the gold exports and by loan expansion. The judgement of capital that effected as in the New York city bond deal this week and the Japanese loan to come, gives some relief from the idleness of large amounts of capital, which has shown signs of some pressure for effect in the railroad market.

The tone of the bond market has certainly shown that stocks but no large investment demand has been shown and weakness in some of the speculative issues has unsettled the market.

WHEAT CLOSED STEADY AT SLIGHT LOSS

Chicago, May 7.—A fair degree of firmness was displayed at the opening in wheat, the main element of strength being heavy rains in the Red river valley, which would delay grain hungry the already backward growing operations. Local longs took profits, however, and the market developed no spirit here. Prices held about steady until late in the session when renewed profit taking set in. Shorts covered quite freely and part of the loss was regained. July closed steady at 86 1-8 a loss of 1-4. Corn was easier in sympathy with wheat early, but the close was strong. July closed at 49 3-4, a gain of 1-8.

July oats closed 1-8 @ 1-4 lower at 33 1-2 @ 5-8.

Provisions were weak. July pork closed 10 lower, lard and ribs each down 2 1-2.

Cash quotations were as follows:

tion tomorrow morning."

Joyce saluted and turned upon his heel.

"You can sleep upon that, you beauty, and a good night's rest it may give you."

Joyce turned in bewilderment. Where had those words been used before? Who was it who had used them?

The general was standing erect. Both he and the chief of intelligence were laughing. Joyce stared at the tall figure, the steel bearing, the inscrutable grey eyes.

"Good Lord!" he gasped.

"Well, well, Captain Joyce, we are quits!" said the general, holding out his hand. "You gave me a bag of marbles with five ounces of red not-how-de-you-do of fears. I've done as much for you. I don't think we can give you for the Royal Mallows just yet awhile."

"But, sir, but—!"

"The fewer questions the better, perhaps. But, of course, it must seem rather amazing. I had a little private business with the Kabbalish. It must be done in person. I did it, and gave to your pest in my return. I kept on winking at you as a sign that I wanted a word with you alone."

"Yes, yes. I begin to understand."

"I couldn't give it away before all those blacks, or where should I have been the next time I used my false beard and Arab dress? You put me in a very awkward position. But at last I had a word alone with your Egyptian officer, who managed my escape all right."

"Ho! Mahomet Ali?"

"I ordered him to say nothing. I had a score to settle with you. But we dine at 8, Captain Joyce. We live plainly here, but I think I can do you a little better than you did me at Kurkur."

VICE ASK CITY TO PARK PLATTE

EXTENSION OF EAST SIDE STREET DELAYED, PENDING ACTION BY COUNCIL ON PARKING ZONE.

The street department has been busy all week repairing the damage done to streets, alleys and bridges by the recent rains. The St. Vrain street bridge and the South Tejon street washouts were the most serious features of the storm, so far as the street department is concerned.

The department will this week start turning the Hooke property, on East Platte avenue into an extension of that avenue. The buildings on the property have been removed and everything is now in readiness for the making of a street. Work has been delayed however, owing to the fact that there is a row of trees in the center of the street and some of the residents desire the city to park the center. The question will be decided Tuesday night at the council meeting.

Non-Support Charge Against Wilful Diamond

WIFE PLEADS FORGIVENESS

MAN WHO LOANED TO HELP HIS WIFE WITH RECOVER FAMILY PURSUADES COURT TO FOR THE PAST FEW [illegible]

Mrs. J. A. Warford, who attempted to commit suicide by taking poison several days ago, will recover, according to the latest reports.

Her husband was at her bedside all day yesterday but returned to his work last evening after learning that his wife would get well.

Mrs. Warford told her husband that she took the poison out of remorse for having filed the complaint against him, charging him with non-support. She was afraid her husband would not forgive her, but he told her that he did and she was happy with him yesterday.

Mr. Warford says he has been receiving her money regularly but the last remittance was delayed in the mails. The district attorney learned this yesterday and immediately dismissed the case against Warford.

The husband says he has been exceedingly hard-pressed for some time. His wife, he says, has been sick and his little girl had to have a costly operation performed, and it has taken about all he could earn to pay doctors and other bills incidental to sickness. Hard luck has followed him all winter, he says, but he has tried to stem the tide and provide for his family to the best of his ability. He has gone back to Victor to earn the money to provide for his wife during her present illness.

Mrs. Vontz, to whom Mrs. Warford went, did her part to the doctor, says she has befriended Mrs. Warford for some time and that she has been quite a great sufferer as Mrs. Warford's statement that she had been "disgraced" by her.

FARMED BY MARRIAGE (NOT UNCOMMON)

Mrs. Lena Rasmussen, sister of the late Mrs. Hannah Daniels, left for her home in Stevens, Minnesota, last night.

Mrs. Daniels was the aged washerwoman, who was believed to be destitute, but who before her death, disclosed the fact that she owned $2,500 in cash and four lots in Denver. About $600 in nickels, dimes, quarters and half-dollars was found in a tin pail in a barrel of flour where Mrs. Daniels had hidden it.

All of the property was given to Mrs. Mary Craven, a friend who nursed Mrs. Daniels in her illness, but the latter learned that Mrs. Daniels' niece was alive and wired for her to come here. Mrs. Daniels then made another disposition of her property, whereby the sister gets the money.

Mrs. Rasmussen had not seen her sister for the last 20 years. Twenty-four years ago when Mrs. Daniels, then Hannah Jacobs, left her home in Oconto county, Wisconsin, she visited her sister and brother, Henry Jacobs, who now lives at West Superior, Wis., cousin, Mrs. Daniels went to Chicago to [illegible] Later she came to Colorado Springs, where she has since lived. The sister and brother-in-law corresponded with her until she went to Denver. There they lost track of her and for the past 10 years they did not know whether she was alive or dead until Mrs. Craven, in looking through some old letters of the sick woman, found Mrs. Rasmussen's address, and telegraphed her to come to Colorado Springs.

Mrs. Rasmussen states that she wrote as many as 20 letters to her sister in Denver but all were returned to her after going to the dead letter office at Washington. It is supposed that Mrs. Daniels was married about that time, and the fact that the letters were sent to Miss Hannah Jacobs accounts for her failure to have received them.

Mrs. Rasmussen did not wait for the probating of the will and her interests will be handled by attorneys here. She is made the sole beneficiary. Mrs. Craven, who was first given the money, has waived all claim to it although she will receive the Daniels' real estate.

Nothing is known of Mrs. Daniels' husband. It is believed that he died a short time after the marriage. The property left by Mrs. Daniels is supposed to represent the savings of the past 12 years. She was always a hard worker, [illegible] who knew her, and went without many of the necessities of life.

The remains of Mrs. Daniels are interred at Evergreen cemetery. They will not be taken east.

MEALEY SAID DEAD

BODY OF FORMER LABOR LEADER TAKEN TO GRAVE WITH ALL HONOR HIS ASSOCIATES COULD SHOW.

New York, May 3.—John Mealey, the former labor leader, who died a convict in Sing Sing prison, was buried today from the home of his wife on East 59th street. His body was followed to the grave with all the marks of honor and distinction his former associates could show.

Frank Buchanan, president of the International Union of Housesmiths and Bridgemen, Parks' old union, acted as chief mourner, and J. C. Johnson, secretary-treasurer of the international body was grand marshal. Nearly 1,000 men wearing crepe badges showing to what particular labor organization each belonged, marched behind the hearse to the Middle Village Lutheran cemetery on Long Island.

All along the line of march the sidewalks were crowded with sightseers. Leading the processions were two carriages filled with floral pieces. In the line were representatives of labor unions of Boston, Philadelphia and Newark, as well as New York unions.

DEFECTIVE FUSE

Causes Very Near Closing the Lives of Two Well-Known Miners Residing in Cripple Creek.

Special to the Gazette.

Cripple Creek, May 3.—Ike Wilkinson and Ed Lucha, well known miners residing in this city, and operating under lease a block of the Christmas property, came near losing their lives through a defective fuse this evening.

The two miners, who were working in a drift some distance from the shaft, had put in their round of ten holes and then spit the fuse. The fuse proved to be defective and burned up rapidly, almost instantly igniting one of the shots which exploded and set off the others. As soon as the men saw they had spit what is known as a running fuse the men started to escape but were only 15 feet away when the explosion came. The concussion knocked both down and they lay there 30 minutes unconscious. Wilkinson recovered consciousness after about 20 minutes and, crawling to his partner, dragged him out of the heavy powder smoke and broken rock. He worked over Lucha fully an hour and finally restored him to consciousness. Wilkinson then summoned help. When help came, the injured of the men were rudely dressed and they were brought to a doctor's office in this city.

The injuries were only a few cuts and bruises which were quickly dressed and the men were moved to their homes. They suffered more from the effects of the powder smoke than from injuries.

MEMBERS OF YALE 12 PAY—PANCOAST DERAILED BY TAFT IN GAME AT PRINCETON.

New Haven, Conn., May 7.—Yale won this year's football spring track meet with Princeton at Yale Field in a most successful manner in point of interest for the spectators and in point of records as any held here for many years. The star performance was the mile run, which proved most by W. Pancoast, '04, of Yale, who carried a clean lead to the finish.

Yale won 10 of the 15 events and Princeton 5, but Princeton actually secured more points than Yale, as the Orange and Black won in the weights, while Yale won in the sprints and hurdles. Princeton's victory in the pole vault, in which Taft, Yale's star, was disqualified for not clearing the bar, was a big one, as many Yale men were unable to compete in the event.

Taft, who is the Yale-Princeton dual meet, Pancoast, Princeton's star miler, Dillingham, Princeton's star sprinter, and Hillyer, Yale's star hurdler, were the most prominent athletes in the meet. Pancoast, who is a member of the Princeton track team, is a cousin of Miss Helen Taft, sister of Yale's star athlete. Taft, in the remarkable vaulting of the evening in the rain, put the pole at 11 feet 6 inches, but failed to clear it on his three trials. Dillingham, Princeton's star sprinter, was handicapped by a bad start in the 100-yard dash, and was unable to overcome the lead of his opponent, Hillyer, Yale's star hurdler, was handicapped by a bad start in the 120-yard hurdle race, and was unable to overcome the lead of his opponent, Hillyer, Yale's star hurdler, was handicapped by a bad start in the 120-yard hurdle race, and was unable to overcome the lead of his opponent.

One hundred-yard dash, won by Lowe, Yale. Time, 10 seconds.

Quarter-mile run, won by Clapp, Yale; time, 55 seconds.

One-mile run, won by Williams, Princeton; time, 4 minutes 32 5-5 seconds.

120-yard hurdles, won by Hillyer, Yale; time, 16 seconds.

440-yard dash, won by Barney, Yale; time, 51 1-5 seconds.

Two-mile run, won by Hall, Yale; time, 9 minutes 52-5 seconds.

Shot-put, won by Clapp, Yale; distance, 38 feet 2½ inches.

220-yard dash, won by Long, Yale; time, 23 seconds.

Broad jump, won by Sheffield, Yale; 21 feet 11 inches.

440-yard run, won by Wainwright, Yale; time, 1 minute 2 2-5 seconds.

Hammer throw, won by DeWitt, Princeton; distance, 136 feet 10 inches.

Pole vault, won by Hinkenbaum, Yale; 11 feet 6 inches.

High jump, won by Jack, Yale; 5 feet 9 inches.

Score—Yale, 77; Princeton, 51.

TAFT'S FAILURE DISCOURAGES NAVAL ATHLETIC CREW

Annapolis, Md., May 7.—The Yale varsity crew defeated the Naval academy crew over the four-mile course by a boat length in a hard-fought race this afternoon. The time was 21:06 and the race did not look much like a contest. Yale was out-rowed in the last half mile by a fine spurt of the Navy crew.

PAIR INTERESTED WHEN SOME GAMES

Rain interfered with the playing of a number of games in the schools of the different Strong amateur leagues yesterday.

Because of the rain and the absence from the city of Cutler academy and the High school teams no games were played in the Amateur league.

In the Junior league the Midlands and Henry school did not play because of the rain, but the Colorados met the Mill Streets. The Mill Streets won by a score of 15 to 12.

In the first division of the Juvenile league the East Ends defeated the Black, score 12 to 2, and the Little Tigers and the West Sides were forced to quit because of the rain with the score a tie. In the second division of the league the Garfields won from the Vickers, score 21 to 13, and the Longfellows defeated the Bristols, 9 to 6, it being a forfeited game. The West Side Juniors and the Lilacs could not play. The North Ends will play out the remainder of the Bristol schedule.

TRACK WON

Boston, May 7.—The fifth Series of the Intercollegiate athletic meet by a score of 4 to 3. The score was still more close, but the Aggie 4 mile entered. Five new features.

GOLFERS BUSY WITH CHAMPIONSHIP

The annual golf tournament for the championship of Colorado will be held in Denver this week. The tournament will begin Wednesday and continue until Friday, when the finals will be played. Quite a number of Colorado Springs devotees of the links will enter the tournament. Among the Denver and Texas players who have already announced their intention to take in the championship are H. B. Lewis, W. K. D. Orr, F. E. Wallace, F. M. P. Taylor, C. Thompson, W. R. Stapp-Smither and C. W. Mosher. It is not known what Country club members will enter.

The state championship is now held by Willie Fairbanks, who was successful in winning the honors for a second time at the tournament held on the Town and Country links last summer. The coming tournament will be held at the Denver club.

Medley players will qualify in 36-hole contest on the opening morning. The first round will be played Wednesday afternoon and the 2nd will be followed on Thursday afternoon. The finals will be played Friday morning.

CRUTTE-RADDE TREATMENT MAKING RAPID GAINS

The Large Percentage of Cures Made by the Crotte-Radde Method of Treating Tuberculosis Has Aroused New Hope in the Minds of Every Sufferer of the Great White Plague.

Since the knowledge of what has been done in Denver and Colorado Springs by the Crotte-Radde Institute in successfully treating tuberculosis by the new French transfusion method has become generally disseminated, new visions of confidence and hope have been opened to those who are victims of this dreadful malady.

The treatment from the cures which have already resulted fully at the Institute in Denver, as well as at the Springs, have already taken on a world-wide interest, and Denver has been selected to be the "Mecca" of the consumptive for tuberculosis.

In only a few of the instances so far has there been the least danger of cures failing as low as twenty per cent, and the [illegible] as well as the first and second, have been treated. Francois de Crotte, when he, for the first time he explained to the academy of science in Paris his new discovery of bringing germ destroying medicine into direct contact with the diseased parts of the lungs by means of an electric current of great power, said that by doing so it was as easy and simple to successfully combat the disease as it would be to cure an infant on the outside of the body. That his statement was practically [illegible] by the high percentage of cures effected.

Immediately following the successful demonstration of the value of the treatment the erection of sanitariums was begun in every country in Europe and already a small army of consumptives have been cured.

Madame Radde, who has furnished the great fortune to build and equip the various sanitariums, passed through Colorado Springs last week on her way to the coast where institutes have been opened in both San Francisco and Los Angeles. In the latter city a sanitarium is now being built which will accommodate a great number of patients. It is expected that by the time she returns the plans for the Denver institute will have been completed, and which will be fully as large as the one at Los Angeles.

In this city the Crotte-Radde Institute has outgrown its present quarters on Tejon street, but increasing number of patients made necessary a removal to larger and more commodious quarters. They were fortunately able to secure a suite of five rooms in the Barnes Block on Pike's Peak avenue, between Tejon street and Nevada avenue, a location both central and easily accessible from all parts of the city.

These rooms are fitted with all the appliances and comforts that have made the Crotte-Radde Institutes so well known from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans, and here patients receive the attention and treatment that have made the Crotte cures the talk of the medical world.

SUPERS FEARED PLOTTED

Well-Known Denver Playhouse Almost Totally Destroyed by Flames Thought to Be Incendiary.

Denver, May 7.—Fire, undoubtedly of an incendiary origin, almost totally destroyed the Curtis theater at an early hour this morning, causing a loss estimated at about $40,000, partially covered by insurance. That the fire was started by some person or persons is not doubted by either the police, firemen, insurance agents, agent for the actions, or managers of the theater. This belief is also shared by members of the play Howard company and the majority of the stage hands. The police are investigating.

The fire was discovered at 3:45 by Forrest Rogers, who has for some time been employed as general utility man at the various theaters in Denver, and E. S. Carlisle, a bartender living at 321 Seventeenth street. These two men were returning to their homes after a night spent with friends, and when they reached the alley between Eighteenth and Nineteenth and Curtis and Champa streets they saw flames issuing from the rear of the building, casting light from the blaze illuminating the entire alley for a distance of more than a block. The two ran to the corner of Seventeenth and Curtis streets, where they notified the fire operator by telephone and the department was hastily sent out. A second alarm came a few minutes later from a gang of street sweepers who had passed at the entrance to the alley to investigate the cause of the light which filled the area. The fire department made one of the quickest runs on record and within a few minutes after the arrival of the apparatus on the scene the fire was practically under control, although its headway had been such as to cause the entire inside of the theater, the lobby and box office swamped, to be destroyed before an alarm had been given. The prompt action of the department and the good work done by the firemen after they had reached the theater prevented the spreading of the flames to any of the adjoining buildings. The Chicago Block, Holland's saloon, Bay Window hotel, Overland restaurant and the J. H. Martin Sign company are all situated within the block and for a time each of these places was threatened, but the danger soon subsided.

An examination of the theater this morning revealed the fact that the fire had been started under the stage in the west end of the theater. In this portion of the theater there were no wires. No emblem light had been used in last night's performance, and there is absolutely no doubt that the fire was of incendiary agency. Electrician A. M. Wion was the last man to leave the theater after the performance and he says he carefully locked the doors, both front and rear.

I went through the building before leaving, said Wion this morning, and I know there was no person left in the place when I started home. Just before leaving I turned off the large electric currents on in the entire part of the building occupied by the theater. There was no sign of anything wrong at that time. Then I went home.

The portion of the theater occupied by the stage was completely burned, only a few charred pieces of boards being left. The roof fell a few minutes after the firemen arrived, and the fact that the entire west portion of the theater, where the stage is situated and where the fire no doubt began, is burned will prove a stumbling block in the way of those who want to learn how the fire was started. The incendiary has no tracks well covered unless further developments reveal what does not now appear.

The flames, after gaining headway on the stage, must have been blown by the draft across the auditorium to the lobby, because the first row of seats were consumed. This is what occurred in the Iroquois fire. Had the blaze occurred during a performance the loss of life would have been awful.

WORK IS PROGRESSING

Home of Israel Cemetery Is Every Rods a Beautiful Spot—Many Trees Planted.

It was stated yesterday by S. Krauss, secretary of the Sons of Israel Cemetery association, that work on improving the association's property, which adjoins the Evergreen cemetery in Colorado Springs, is going forward steadily.

The excavating work, of which a large amount has already been done, will be completed in a few days. After the foundation will have the ground thoroughly seeded and planted with grass seed and pine and shrubs laid out. ONE A DRAGGER BETWEEN DENVER AND SIOUX CITY

The All-rest went within ten yards of the finish. Then by a magnificent spurt he got ahead of others and led by five yards where he touched Mack, the third man, a yard behind the leader and at the tape Pabst [illegible] a yard behind Mack.

Although still troubled with his leg, Painter did all that was expected of him. He shot around the wet track with the speed of a quarter horse and won in a gallop with 25 yards separating him from the second man.

While it was a disappointment for the spectators their disappointment was nothing compared to the difficulties under which the athletes labored for supremacy. The track was heavy and treacherous, and the air so cold and damp that the men shivered while awaiting their turn in the events.

Records Were Out of the Question.

But the conditions under which the meet was held make the results all the more remarkable. A fifth of a second was clipped off the 100-yard dash, compared with last year; three seconds off the mile run; the 220-yard dash was made in 2 2-5 seconds better than last year; as well as new marks set for the 120-yard hurdles, the discus throw, shot-put, 440-yard run and 220-yard hurdles.

List of events, together with names of those winning first, second and third places, are given below. First place counts five, second three, and third one.

Track Events.

One-hundred-yard dash—Won by Johnson, U. of C.; Welch, U. of C., second; Rice, U. of C., third. Time 10 1-5 seconds.

880-yard run—Won by Johnston, U. of C.; Fowler, D. U., second; Jones, U. of C., third. Time 2 min. 14 seconds.

One-mile run—Won by Painter, C. C.; Kirk, U. of C., second; Hawley, D. U., third. Time 5 minutes.

Special to the Gazette.

By Sporting Editor, Omaha Bee.

Omaha, May 5.—Pape Bill Rourke expresses himself more than ever pleased with the line-up of the Omaha team, and says when he gets his team at home, so that a little morning practice can be had and the team work developed, he will have a bunch that will make the best of them hustle. He is particularly proud of Howard as a batter and base runner, and generally considers him the find. It was only some regret that he let Root go, but he didn't feel like paying the price and expense for a young pitcher with a sore shoulder, when he had some good material on his staff that he would have had to sacrifice. Root and Towne were both offered the same terms by Sioux City and it is likely that Anderson will develop a clever pair of them.

Collegian Brown, who will join Omaha in June, distinguished himself on Tuesday by shutting out the Grinnell team in the match which gave Omaha the club championship. Brown has been [illegible] getting three hits out of five times up. He will be a welcome addition to the batch.

Paul Carpenter has an untrained arm and some of the local fans think he has an unfilled head as well, looking on him as a false alarm, but Rourke thinks he has to have a lathander on his list, and after the Denver game he wouldn't let Carpenter go for a ton of gold. Paul won the first game Omaha has taken in Colorado in two seasons.

Del Schaffstall's sore arm is not considered serious, but it will be bad enough to keep him on the bench until he is willing to play ball. Rourke doesn't propose to gamble with any body this year. He must have the goods or he won't earn the pay checks. The easy days of the year are over. It is not improbable that Schaffstall will find his shoulder in good shape very soon.

Joe Dolan's good arm worked well at Des Moines and a fine large chunk was added to the batting record as a result. The whole Omaha team has been showing a great deal of regard for opposing pitchers since the opening and it will be well to watch them when the middle of the season days arrive, for hitting will win games.

Gooding talked to Western Union that it takes more than head work or fast feet to steal bases when he has the pinkerton on. John's arm was never in such condition as it is right now, and he is hitting better than he ever did. He took a big cut in pay this season, dropping $ a week to $ per, and at that told Pape Bill he'd deliver the goods all right, and he is doing it. Jack Towne is showing himself a revelation to the old at the patrons at first. If he isn't voted the fastest in the league before the season is over it will be funny.

ANCHER'S DOWN AND OUT

Maloney Fails to Make Good With Locals.

NEW PITCHER IN SIGHT

Charley Maloney, who has been trying to make good for the pitch[illegible] of Williams, for the past two weeks, was released by Manager Ryan last night and will return to Fowler, Indiana, where he will play on an independent team. He was tried out in two games and did fair work in the last game but did not show ability enough to warrant Ryan keeping him.

President Burns and Manager Ryan now have their lines out for another pitcher but have not landed him yet. He is said to have a good record.

Rain yesterday prevented the opening game of the series with St. Joseph. This afternoon's game will be called at 3 o'clock. Lampe or McGinley will pitch for the locals. It is about Sampie's turn to do the work for St. Joseph.

Local fans will be interested to know that Tommy Dowd has been let out by the Boston Americans. The former local backstop is now playing with the Montreal team of the Eastern league. Fleming has dropped out of sight in Philadelphia but George Stallnagle is still with the St. Louis Nationals.

Local fans will also be interested in the substitutes in the batteries to-day, especially that Walter Preston has been signed for the Sioux City outfield. Preston has played with Omaha and Peoria and is well known in the Western league.

EASTERN MAN AS MANAGER OF A DENVER TEAM IN THE WEST

NEW GAZETTE MAN SPEAKS UP NOW

By Cecil B. Conover.

At the end of the second week of the Western league season, which has been a sensational one in baseball circles, it looks as if a sectional race had developed, with Colorado Springs and Denver standing the best prospects of landing the first two places, St. Joseph and Sioux City competing for the third left open in the first division, and Des Moines and Omaha each trying to keep out of the cellar. Colorado Springs and Denver to date seem to be the only teams with good clubs out for the pennant.

The games played in the west have been the most closely contested and the most exciting on account of the rain, which has added to the excitement that popularizes the sport. Colorado Springs and Denver have had things their own way in the games played on their grounds, but the Sioux City-St. Joseph and Des Moines-Omaha series have developed several hard struggles. The series at the Bluffs brought out the best exhibits of ball yet played.

The rivalry between Colorado Springs and Denver, the two cities being the largest in the league, is keen, and the fact that the Springs team has been playing ball for years and has a following that is loyal to the limit, while Denver has a team of unlucky ball players who are up and coming at all stages of the game.

Hudson, the cruel little shortstop man of this locals, is considered about the whole battery. Hudson has everything he needs to speak a small pitcher and with all his shortcomings considers center a cool head in the time of play.

Hudson never hesitates to have a throw under the nose of the batter right where it is most inconvenient to the heavy batters.

Wednesday's game with the Orioles Hudson pitched a shutout ball and held the Denver representatives down to seven safe hits.

Brad Schaefer, the third baseman, is rapidly recovering from the injury received in the game with Omaha. Brad is picking up a good deal of confidence and is playing a steady game. He is a hard worker and is always on the job.

Ed Hanlon, the manager of the Omaha team, is a veteran baseball player and has been playing practically without a game.

Little Tommy Chaney who is on the local pitching staff is perhaps the smallest man in Chamberlain's bunch. Chaney in the recent series was up against a tough proposition in the form who have for the greater part a slambang aggregation. In the second game Chaney hurled the Sioux winning streak wide open and left it on both sides of the road. When Jimmy slid up against the rubber, the visitors picked out their heaviest bats and proceeded to land the little redhead. He rode once over all they could muster while the balance were prettily bunched into convenient baskets.

Herman at center field and McBride at short are doing good work. Gannon, the West Plains kid was released by Chamberlain last Sunday night. Howey, the Bedford, Ia., kid was also turned loose. Howey has the making of a good club man and was released only to reduce the staff.

Humble, a member of the club, grabbed off the middle inning. His score from the fact that he has a steady delivery and is a pitcher.

It seems from the local viewpoint that any one of the four clubs will land a pennant here this year. Omaha has the pennant in the opinion of the local fans of the season, Colorado Springs has much to do with the work of an eastern team on Denver's grounds. Players are in the field of the season's games especially weather and weariness is in that fact. What St. Joseph will do is a guess but it is safe bet that the locals figure in the finish.

Special to the Gazette.

St. Joseph, May 5.—St. Joseph is not on the trail of Denver and second place in the Western league just now. During the past series with Sioux City, local fans have about the working bench up and re-greased have painted a congratulatory word for the locals. During the present series with Denver the locals have at least had a flight of dust on the track, and should come through with their share of the [illegible] Des Moines has a bunch of hickory ball players who are up and coming at all stages of the game.

Hudson, the cruel little shortstop man of this locals, is considered about the whole battery. Hudson has everything he needs to speak a small pitcher and with all his shortcomings considers center a cool head in the time of play.

Hudson never hesitates to have a throw under the nose of the batter right where it is most inconvenient to the heavy batters.

Wednesday's game with the Orioles Hudson pitched a shutout ball and held the Denver representatives down to seven safe hits.

Brad Schaefer, the third baseman, is rapidly recovering from the injury received in the game with Omaha. Brad is picking up a good deal of confidence and is playing a steady game. He is a hard worker and is always on the job.

Ed Hanlon, the manager of the Omaha team, is a veteran baseball player and has been playing practically without a game.

Little Tommy Chaney who is on the local pitching staff is perhaps the smallest man in Chamberlain's bunch. Chaney in the recent series was up against a tough proposition in the form who have for the greater part a slambang aggregation. In the second game Chaney hurled the Sioux winning streak wide open and left it on both sides of the road. When Jimmy slid up against the rubber, the visitors picked out their heaviest bats and proceeded to land the little redhead. He rode once over all they could muster while the balance were prettily bunched into convenient baskets.

Herman at center field and McBride at short are doing good work. Gannon, the West Plains kid was released by Chamberlain last Sunday night. Howey, the Bedford, Ia., kid was also turned loose. Howey has the making of a good club man and was released only to reduce the staff.

Humble, a member of the club, grabbed off the middle inning. His score from the fact that he has a steady delivery and is a pitcher.

It seems from the local viewpoint that any one of the four clubs will land a pennant here this year. Omaha has the pennant in the opinion of the local fans of the season, Colorado Springs has much to do with the work of an eastern team on Denver's grounds. Players are in the field of the season's games especially weather and weariness is in that fact. What St. Joseph will do is a guess but it is a safe bet that the locals figure in the finish.
